Message from Director
Mr. Arunendra Dvivedi

Dear Team,

As we step into May, the first full month of FY 2026–27, we move from early momentum into steady execution. The direction ahead is becoming clearer, with global markets increasingly valuing demonstrable, audited compliance over broad claims.

IAS-accredited certifications from SIS Certifications, including SOC 2 Type 2, BCMS (ISO 22301), and ISO 27001, continue to play a vital role in this shift. Across the Gulf, Nigeria, the Philippines, and other key markets, clients are seeking assurance that resilience, continuity, and security are built into everyday operations, not just documented.

Over recent months, we have seen consistent growth in certifications, expanded outreach across key regions, and deeper client trust supported by our IAS accreditation across 20+ standards and improved audit processes.

We are especially pleased to share that SIS Certifications is now a member of the PHD Chamber of Commerce and Industry. This milestone strengthens our industry engagement, connects us with policymakers and business leaders, and opens new avenues for collaboration, knowledge exchange, and contributing to industry development.

As we move forward, our focus remains on innovation, auditor excellence, and technology-led assurance.

Thank you for your continued trust and partnership.

Wishing you all a productive May.

Arunendra Dvivedi

How to Get ISO/IEC 27701 Certification for IT & SaaS Companies in India (Step-by-Step Guide)

In 2026, data has become the backbone of today's Indian digital economy, with Information Technology (IT) and Software as a Service (SaaS) companies handling huge amounts of critical information due to the rapid evolution of the digital landscape. They now deal with massive amounts of sensitive data, and this shift has exposed them to data leaks or breaches that may impact customer trust and the reputation of the business. This is where getting ISO/IEC 27701:2019 certification becomes important for tech companies in India.

By choosing to apply for ISO 27701 certification online in India, IT organizations and SaaS providers can prove their commitment to world-class data security standards. This certification helps companies identify, manage, and minimize risks related to personal data through the implementation of a strong Privacy Information Management System (PIMS).
